NEW YORK, February 6.—The Tribune prints two and a half columns from the second volume of Blaine's "Twenty Years in Congress," and says editorially: "The story of our bad bargain with Great Britain about the fisheries is interesting if not pleasant reading, and Mr. Blaine, in the passages from his second volume, which we copy from advance sheets this morning tells it with spirit and force. His narrative has not come down to the latest and worst of these bargains, the astounding one made without warrant by the present State Department, but that story has just been effectively told by an expert, Mr. Spofford. After giving a summary of the negotiations which ended in the appointment of DeLoesse, as the third Commissioner under the treaty in Washington, Blaine says that the record of this case, as shown by the official correspondence, is not creditable to the English Government. Referring to the decision of the commission unjustly awarding $5,500,000 to England he says:

"Every American felt that under such circumstances it was better to pay than to be paid $5,500,000. The wrong was done when DeLoesse was selected as a third Commissioner, and the tenacity with which he was urged will always require explanation from the British Government. DeLoesse had spent his life in diplomatic service, was not in any sense a man of affairs and was profoundly ignorant of the fisheries question. Above all, DeLoesse knew that the Belgian sovereign whose favor was his own fortune, would earnestly desire a triumph for the British cause. Both sides made strong representations, and presented statistics and tubular statements and elaborate comparisons which he did not analyze and perhaps did not understand. England, he knew, had been mulcted in fifteen and a half millions in the Geneva award, and the San Juan controversy had been decided against her by the Emperor of Germany. With the connections and surroundings of DeLoesse, he would have been more than human if he had not desired England to triumph in at least one of the questions submitted to arbitration by the Treaty of Washington. But while these circumstances relieve DeLoesse from any imputation upon his personal or official honor they only render more prominent and more offensive the singular pertinacity with which the British Government insisted upon his appointment as one of the commissioners in an arbitration that was originally designed to be impartial."

A Black Eye for the Southern Pacific

The House Committee on Public Lands has agreed to report favorably the bill to forfeit the Southern Pacific land grant, except the right of way through public lands and all necessary land for station buildings, depots, machine shops, side tracks, and all lands included within any village, town or city site and any lands sold by the railway company and in the possession of actual settlers, to any amount not exceeding 160 acres. The question of forfeiting the Northern Pacific land grant was considered, but no action taken.

The candidacy of Haggin is regarded by the veteran politicians as a most audacious thing. In the first place Cleveland is in the thick of administering a rebuke to Austria, and the longer the vacancy at Vienna continues the more force his rebuke will have. Haggin, they say, lacks the proper experience and knowledge of affairs to fill such an important office.

In answer to Congressman Morrow's letter, Assistant Secretary of State Porter has written Consul Withers at Hongkong, asking him by what authority he is issuing certificates to Chinese.

Patrick Ford, the editor of the Irish World, wrote recently to a number of the leading members of Congress, asking their opinion on the Irish question. Senator Stanford answered as follows:

UNITED STATES SENATE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

DEAR SIR: The Irish question is too great a one to be discussed without careful preparation. I shall not attempt, therefore, to discuss it in this short letter, which is merely intended to convey my friendly feeling towards yourself and your people.

The general principle upon which I should like to see Ireland and the whole British Empire Government is one based upon county, State and National Government, after our own system, with such imperil representation as would make the different provinces and colonies of Great Britain integral parts of the whole.

As to the immediate relief of the Irish people I cannot see any but that which may be brought about by diversified labor. It seemed to me when I was in Ireland that the people were too much attached to agricultural pursuits. The extent of their territory is not sufficient to provide this kind of labor for all. In consequence of the improvement in transportation the agriculturist of Ireland is to-day in direct competition with the agriculturist in all portions of the civilized world.

Should the change to more diversified labor be too slow to give the immediate relief that is needed, then I would suggest emigration. It would be an easy solution of the present difficulty for so many of the Irish people to emigrate to America as to leave no more at home than could obtain constant and profitable employment.

Very truly yours,
LELAND STANFORD

Washington Territory

Senator Dolph's bill for the admission of Washington Territory as a State will probably be taken up at an early date. It is possible that the bill, after the preliminary steps of forming a Constitution have been taken, will be passed. It is claimed that such a bill will meet with less opposition in the House than a similar bill admitting Dakota for the reasons that the Democrats entertain some hope of carrying Washington. Senator Dolph promises to deliver a forcible speech in support of the bill.

A Blaine Boom

A Washington special says: The Critch declare that the presence in this city of a number of the friends of James G. Blaine, who were regarded as managers of his campaign, attracts much attention and causes much gossip. It is said that they have agreed that Blaine should remain in the background until the State campaign in Maine, when he shall take the stump, arrange the administration and start a Presidential boom.

Operation on Senator Miller.

The operation of paracentesis thoracic, an exceedingly delicate operation in surgery, was successfully performed on Senator Miller, of California, last Friday evening. A large quantity of fluid was drawn from the cavity of the pleura, giving the Senator great relief, and his condition is much improved to-day.

A Congested Quarter.

The Chinese quarters in San Francisco are overcrowded, caused by the immense immigration from interior towns, owing to anti-Chinese movement. The appearances of the restaurant and gambling houses show signs of poverty. The China merchants are doing no business.

Pardon of Pension Fraud

The President has pardoned Geo. R. Sims, who was convicted of participating in a conspiracy to defraud the Government in a pension case and sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the Southern Illinois Penitentiary.

The Centennial Relief

The managers of the Centennial Exposition are in Washington. They want the Government to make good the $1,500,000 deficit of the 1876 show.

Nevadans have at least the consolation of knowing that their State is not the only one charged with corrupt practices in Senatorial elections. Payne, one of the Ohio Senators, is liable to be ousted from his seat for that cause. How many Senators that were ever elected in Nevada could have been retained under a fair and impartial investigation?—Times-Review

The Genoa Courier says:

A Carson gentleman informs the Courier that the people of that town have taken hold of the Chinese question in earnest, and it will not be long before the Chinamen will have to leave the Capital, at any rate. This is good news. Many of the smaller towns in Nevada are watching the progress made by the Carson people in this matter, and if Carson succeeds in getting rid of the Mongolian, they will take up the cudgel and John will have to leave the State.

Reno has determined to drive out the Chinamen, and is taking long and vigorous strides in that direction. Reno will succeed. Reno is always successful in whatever she undertakes. Her people stand in solid phalanx, decide what is for the best interests of the town, and then all pull as one man until it is accomplished. Added to this, there is a great deal of vim and push in the composition of the average Renote, and when he starts to do a thing he doesn't move like a circus horse with the heavens, and he generally "gets there, Ely." This is one reason why we think Powning will be a more formidable opponent in the Senatorial race than some of the "sack" devotees would have us believe. He is in to stay, and is going to get there if he can. But to return to the Chinese question. If the people of Genoa desire to get rid of the Mongolians, they can do so very easily. Much easier than Carson or Reno. Moreover, Genoa can do without John better than can either of those towns. It is sure to be hard for them at first to get along without the Chinamen. It will be difficult to obtain competent cooks for some of the larger establishments, and the five-cent vegetable man will be hard to replace. But give us one white laundry in Genoa, conducted by a competent and reliable person, and we can do very well without John from the first day of his departure. The people must expect to pay more for washing than they do at present. White men cannot live on rice, nor dress in a single gown. They must have food and clothing and this they must have whether the Chinamen are here or not. Is it right to employ and pay Chinamen for work, and also pay taxes to support the poor of our own race in the poor house? That is the question, pure and simple, when resolved into its elements. One would suppose that the high Mucamucks of the most advanced nation of the earth would prefer to employ the poor of their own race, and make suitable charitable provisions if necessary for the paupers of Central Asia.

The Old University

The Elko Independent says: There is a current rumor that the former State University, which is now the property of Elko county, is soon to be transformed into a Catholic school. Miss Grant made application to the Board of Commissioners at their last meeting for privilege to use a portion of the building for a school. The proposition to transform the building into a County Hospital has been discussed by the Commissioners, the Board has taken the subject under advisement, and the agent of Miss Grant was informed that she should be permitted to open a school in one or more rooms of the University building, it would be with the distinct understanding that she should vacate at any time the Board desired. It was the unanimous decision of the Board that the building would not be leased for a definite period on any consideration.

The above is a true statement of the facts, and the rumor referred to is an evidence of the pro-nepness of human nature to jump at conclusions.

Poor Christianity!

Cort Philadelphia Press

Poor Christianity! His election was the unmaking of him. If his Washington career could be blotted out of his life, it would leave his record as upright and stainless as any man's in Michigan, and he would be still a power in his home. Instead of that, I am told he goes about the little town of Lansing, where he lives, almost unnoticed by men who once sought his company, and is existing on the slight pittance that comes of a country lawyer's practice. He has no influence, and is rapidly ageing under the disgrace that overcame him a few years ago. Before he went to the Senate he was a great power in Michigan. He had risen from an insignificant country lawyer until he reached the supreme bench there, which at that time was sadly in need of a man of character, uprightness and learning. Mr. Christianity had all these qualities, and his decisions did more to make the Michigan Supreme Court respected than those of any other judge who ever sat on the bench. He went to Washington and though in the afternoon of life, fell, and the woman who caused his downfall now sleeps in one of the graveyards in a suburb of this great city, while he plods on amid the scenes of his youth, in the vain hope of some day retrieving a wrecked career.

Longkey's Reply.

The following is the reply of O. Longkey to the letter addressed to him by the Secretary of the Truckee citizens' meeting.

VERDI, Nev., Feb. 3, 1886.

WM. O'NEIL, Sec'y Citizens Meeting

DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 1st is at hand, and I have noted its contents. I hardly see how I can rescind my contract with Chinamen cutting wood, having a written contract with them, and also with the railroad company. I understood, by one party, who was on the committee on the same lay-out, who was here last fall a little while before I let the contract—the same party I speak of came down here with the direct intention of taking the contract for that Chinese company, or in other words representing that company—that the citizens had no intention whatever of interfering with wood contracts, and that the agitation was only aimed at the saw-mills and lumber yards. I will name the party, who is H. L. Day, working for the Truckee Lumber Co. I spoke to Mr. Day at that time about this Chinese agitation, and from what I understood of him, I was, like the others who let wood contracts to the Chinese, perfectly safe in doing so. As I before stated, I am held by the Chinamen and railroad company, and am unable to rescind that contract and be held liable by the railroad company and the Chinese. If you, or any other citizen of Truckee, will cause these Chinamen to let go that contract—and you are in a position to take it yourself, or select—I will advance the price to $2.50 per cord. I am now paying the Chinese $2.38. I do not propose to act differently from any other wood contractor or mill man around Truckee, but as I am not there myself and only see what is in print, I am unable to follow suit. In the meantime I do not care to pay damages, probably to two different parties, and, to make this story short, there must be, in my opinion enough white men around your vicinity, to take that contract from those Chinamen. I must be entirely released from any cause of action from the Chinamen as soon as they drop that contract. I have as one of the mill men, so far employed less Chinamen than any other, with the exception of one company, the Boca Mill Company. Last summer, I had 65 men working at the Binner and Prosser Creek mills and out of that gang there was only one Chinaman—a cook. That was pretty much so every year. I only speak of this to show that I am not in favor of Chinese as you probably think I am, and will not hesitate to follow suit with the balance of my fellow-citizens, and were I not bound by written agreements, I would at once proceed to discharge that Chinese crew. In conclusion I will say I hope you will be able to manage it so as to cause the Chinamen to quit that contract, as it is only a small one compared with others, 1,500 to 2,000 cords, and they must have a good portion of it now cut. Any one wishing to see the provisions of the contract referred to have only to come down here and see for themselves.

Yours truly,
O. LONGKEY

Wood Contracts

The Truckee Republican says: W. O. Hill who was appointed at the last meeting as a committee of one and has devoted his time this past week to investigating the various wood camps in and about Truckee has his report to date prepared for the meeting to-night. He has visited a large number of camps and among the results of the work Mr. Hill reports: Yeig Sing, at Donner Lake, has two camps one with nine men, the other with five men. E. Ellen is working seventeen Chinamen in two camps across the ridge from Donner Lake. O. Longkey at Prosser Creek mill has nine Chinamen at work cutting railroad wood. McKay has four Chinamen stopping at his cabin at Trout creek. None of these Chinamen were working but claimed they would be in a few days. Dr. Curless has eight Chinamen on his land not working. F. Champion has seven Chinamen at work at Camp 19 on February 4th, at 5 p. m. they calculated to work two or three days more before taking China New Year. F. Champion at Cold stream mine in one camp and five in another not working. At Tunnel 13 a Chinese is working. Sisson, Crocker & Co. have about sixty men working in the woods at different camps in this vicinity. Fong Lee at Union Mills and Cold stream, twenty men not working waiting for result of agitation. In all a total of one hundred and fifty four Chinamen now in the woods making it their homes, but owing to China New Year as they claim are not at work, with the exception of Champion's crew at Camp 13. The two Chinamen who were at the Quong Sing Lung burned camp came into town. Sisson, Crocker & Co. have gangs at Kneeland's Martin creek, Union Mills, Indus and on Truckee river. Mr. Hill reports that the Chinamen are all more or less frightened and very wary and careful in what they say, but he believes that one man could go to the camps and tell the Chinamen to come to town and they would come. The work has fully begun and at the close of the coming week will probably be complete in details and figures.

Hereford Cattle.

An Elko correspondent of the Times-Review says "I visited the ranch of Messrs Bradley & Russell about three miles up the Humboldt. While there I was shown a number of Hereford cattle which these gentlemen are breeding, deeming them preferable to any others as beef-producers. While in Illinois some three years ago Mr. Russell purchased sixty head of thoroughbred and high grade, mostly bulls, which number was subsequently augmented by the purchase of five head of yearlings and an imported cow from Messrs. Scott & Co., of Huleek, at a cost of $100 each for the former and $1000 for the latter. They have now about 250 yearlings and two year-olds which will be distributed this season among their herds throughout this State and Idaho"

Anti-Chinese League

The Anti-Chinese League held its first meeting in the Armory last evening and elected permanent officers as follows: President A. D. King, Vice Presidents, H. H. Beck, H. L. Fish, E. Sample, T. V. Julien, P. H. McIlhenny, Secretary, C. H. Stoddard, Treasurer, T. F. Laycock, Sergeant-at Arms, John Hogan. The Executive Committee is composed of the Vice Presidents. After a few remarks the club adjourned until their next regular meeting. The Executive Committee will hold a meeting in the Sheriff's office at the Court House this evening.

Plowing and Sowing

Humboldt farmers, where lands are dry, are busy at work. Louis Lay, of Golconda has commenced sowing grain, and Big Meadow farmers are plowing. It is believed that grain sown this early in the season will require very little irrigation

Gray's Condition.

Clarence Gray continues to act the role of maniac. The officers give him a bath daily, and keep his hands muffled to prevent him from tearing his clothes. He eats with apparent relish what victuals are put in his mouth, but the officers say he will not help himself to food, however hungry he may be.

Eagle Killed

Jim Reed killed an eagle of the American species, at Donner Lake, last Tuesday, that measured 6 feet, 3 inches, from tip to tip of wing. Mr. Reed says there is a bald headed chap sailing around up that way, that he intends shortly to go up and corral

Payroll of the Monitor

The Salt Lake Herald Sunday has the following to say of Taylor and of the recent sale of the Monitor property. During the last six months or more the camp of Taylor, in Eastern Nevada, has enjoyed a great deal of mental prosperity. The Monitor and Argus are the two leading mines and for several months past their output of silver milling ore has averaged $30,000 each per month. It is reliably stated that on the 28th inst. of the sale of the Monitor was effected in Eureka by the payment of $100,000 to the Tennant Company through an English syndicate, and the balance, $50,000, was to be paid on possession of the property. Messrs. McGill, Briggs and Lyons went the lucky owners of the mine and made their stakes by hard work as good miners usually do. It is understood that the new company will increase their working force and expend considerable money in developing their rich property. Until recently the ore bodies in the Taylor mines have been found in pockets, but now it seems that inexhaustible ledges of rich ore are everywhere encountered. Every profession and branch of business is well represented in Taylor with its 600 or 700 population. The prosperity of the camp indicates a high degree of permanence

DUNHAM & KELSEY

The Enterprise says the fine large trestle bridge of the Virginia and Truckee across Crown Point Ravine Gold Hill, is being entirely renewed. It has to be done by regular degrees, of course, in order not to interrupt passenger, freight and ore traffic, but it is being done substantially and good. Commencing at the north side, bent after bent being removed and replaced with entirely new timbers, uprights, braces, etc. The foundation throughout is solid rocks consequently solid timbers erected thereon cannot fail to be the true business. The railroad company have had an eye to this matter for some time past, and concluded to renew the bridge before any possibility of an accident. It will take some time before the job is finished but it will be all right. The bridge which is being renewed or replaced was built in 1869, and the first train passed over it November 12 of that year at 5 o'clock P. M., therefore it has stood eighteen years and can well afford to be renewed. The central portion of the bridge is eighty-four feet high from the bed of the ravine to the floor of the railroad track. The new bridge is in some respects an improvement on the old one, which all will appreciate, yet it is always, in order to speak well of the bridge which has always carried us safely over.

The Outrage Consummated

The White Pine News says

The long-threatened curtailment of the mail service between Eureka, Pioche and wiy stations, went into effect last Monday. Neither petitions, nor the remonstrance of our representatives in Congress could stay this act of great injustice to people by the Mugwump Administration now running this Government. Bondholders and National banks seems to be the only classes for whom Mr. Cleveland's Administration cares a fig. The rights of the people—especially in those isolated districts—are totally disregarded, and no effort is being made to conceal the fact that the General Government is giving us the cold shoulder for some imaginary cause.

It is true we got a copy of "proceedings" for a month or more awaiting Senator Fair's arrival in Washington, but he has not gone and "put in" a word for us. And in consequence of Mr. Fair's absence from his post of duty, the people throughout Eastern Nevada are reduced to two mails a week, when in all justice we should have a daily. After this outrage committed on the people, without a voice being raised we cannot see how the Democratic party from Nevada can come before our people next Fall and ask for a re-election to a trust he has obstinately refused to perform in the past and present

We do not know the days on which this semi-weekly mail will arrive and depart. The Sentinel thinks they will leave Eureka on Sunday and Wednesday morning, which would bring the mail here Monday and Thursday. The Pioche stage came in Thursday, but none arrived from Eureka

Anniversary of the Knights of Pythias

The Enterprise says

On Friday evening, the 13th instant the Knights of Pythias of Virginia and Gold Hill will celebrate the twenty-second anniversary of the Order at Piper's Opera House. The committee in charge has perfected all arrangements, and the occasion promises to be one of splendor and enjoyment. The commemorative exercises, under the direction of Post District Deputy Grand Chancellor of Nevada, M. C. McMillan, acting as Master of Ceremonies, will commence at 7 3/4 o'clock. The programme will consist of instrumental musical and vocal performances by the best talent in the Comstock, an oration by Brother C. E. Mack, and a closing address by P. C. Chancellor of Nevada, I. M. Harkins. The musical and literary exercises will terminate about 9 o'clock, and the balance of the evening will be devoted to dancing for which every arrangement has been made in order to conduce to the enjoyment of all present. The now famous Virginia Orchestra, under the direction of Professor William Weston will furnish the music which, in itself is a first-class attraction. This celebration of the twenty-second anniversary of Pythianism in the United States is an invitation affair for members of the Order and their friends. Members of Virginia and Gold Hill Lodges can obtain tickets by applying to their respective Keepers or Records and Seal, who will furnish the same to all applicants entitled to them.
